(From the "Straits Times," July 27, 1868.) Some time ago we had equation to remark ipon the progress that Literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the receipt of a Hongkong publication which desorves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the knowledge of our readers. We allude to Notes. and Queries on thing and Japan, published China Mail newspaper, This publication is well printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like its well-known nametake or prototype at lions, and is equally a mine containing very curious and useful information regarding the language, literature, history, manners and customs of the Chinese and in a less degree of the Japanese. It says a good deal for the extent and stability of the footing of Europeans in China, that such a publication as this should be established and conducted with apparently successful vigour. The publication is altogether a very interesting one; and wishing it every success. we commend it to the attention and support f our readers.

(From the "Friend of India." June 4, 1868.) We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the numbers for the current year of Notes and Queries," a most deserving Anglo-Chinese monthly, edited by Mr N. B. Dennys, whose Treaty Ports of China and Japan" are so well known. From the names attached to the "Notes" we can see that the contributors include some of the best Chinese scholars in the East, Its interest is not confined to China, and it will be of valuable assistance to all scholars, who have directed their attention towards the subject of Buddhism and its literature, and generally to all who are interested in oriental autiquities. It deserves to be better kuown in India.

HOW THE REBEIS GOT NEWS OF THE YANKERS. Here is a scene from the banks of the Potomac :- No doubt had existed for some time that the rebels had some secret means of knowing everything that transpired within the Federal lines, and that the information was instantaneously conveyed to them. The orders for the recent move ments had not reached the circumference of the military circle formed by the Federal army before the pickets on the opposite bank were calling out in mooking tone How are your Yank? Ain't those elehy days rations mouldy yet? and so on the deepestoanxiety prevailed at headquarters as the means adopted by the rebels baffled all the wigilance and labour employed to detect them. The Provost-Marshal was however, determined to bring the secret to light, and the guards stationed slong the river bank, and in stations favourable for signals, were enjoined to use the utmost watchfulness. At last their efforts were crowned with success .-- One of the sentries in the town of Falmouthe stationed outside a dwelling joining the brick church on the river bank, heard a clicking like that of telegraph instrument, and having told his superior officer, was directed to enter the house and investigate. On opening a door he discovered a party of four or five persons, one of whom was seated by a telegraph instrument sending messages by a aubmarine wire across the Rapahannock. They were all arrested, and as their offence was considered of extraordinary atrobity there is little doubt that they met the punishment which the law awards for such offence, and that is death by hanging. ON PRAYER. Prayer is an action of likeness to the Holy Ghost, the spirit of gentleness and dove-like simplicity: an imitation of the Holy Jesus, whose spirit is meek, up to the greatness of the biggest example, and a conformity to God: whose anger is always just, and marches slowly, and is without transportation, and often hindered, and never hasty, and is full of mercy: prayer is the peace of our spirit, the stillness of our thoughts, the evenness of recollection. the seat of meditation, the rest of our cares, and the calm of our tempest : prayer is the issue of a quiet mind, of untroubled thoughts; it is the daughter of charity, and the sister of meekness; and he that prays to God with an angry, that is, with a troubled and discomposed spirit, is like him that retires into a battle to meditate, and sets up his closet in the out-quarters of an army, and chooses a frontier-garrison to be wise in. Anger is a perfect alienation of the mind from prayer, and therefore is contrary to that attention which presents our prayers in a right line to God. For so have I seen a lark rising from his bed of grass, and soaring upwards, singing as he rises, and hopes to get to heaven, and climb above the clouds; but the poor bird was beaten back with the loud sighings of an eastern wind, and his motion made irregular and inconstant, descending more at every breath of the tempest, than it could recover by the libration and frequent weighing of his wings, till the little creature was forced to sit down and pant, and made a prosperous flight, and did rise and sing, as if it had learned music and motion from an angel, as he nassed sometimes through the air, about his ministries here below. So is the prayer of a good man: when his affairs have required business. and his business was matter of discipline. and his discipline was to pass upon a sinduty met with the infirmities of a man, and anger was its instrument; and the instrument became stronger than the prime agent, and smooth like the heart of God; and then it ascends to heaven upon the wings of the holy dove, and dwells with God, till it returns, like the useful bue, loaden with a blessing and the dew of heaven. - Jeremu

MAN'S SERVANTS. For us the winds do blow;

Nothing we see but means our good, As our delight or as our treasure : The whole is either cupboard of our food, Or cabinet of pleasure.

VOCABULARY IN ENGLISH AND CANTONESE OF TWELVE HUNDRED COMMON WORDS.

The following vocabulary contains most of the words in common use and is based on some very excellent Turkish and Arabic word-lists published in grammars of those languages by Mr Quarritch. It is a matter of impossibility to verify the actual comparative use of word without greater labour thantime permits; but the follow. ing list may serve as a useful basis to students of the colloquial, who will be able to add or remove words as convenience may dictate. We would advise those intending to commit the list to memory to write, by the aid of a native. An American bishop remarked to me that the tone of each word or collocation in figure symbols over or under the pronunciation; the figures 1.2,3.4 being written over for the upper, and under for the lower of the eight tones.
